...and his wife, Clara, were a farmer with little education and no knowledge of the arts. His photographs of Brown County reveal with remarkable clarity a world that has long since disappeared.

W. Douglas Hartley

Shadows of the

Otto Ping came into my life about a quarter of a century ago, when I was searching for information about pre-Civil War farmer and tombstone carver Henry Cross. Cross had lived in Brown County from 1821 to 1864, and someone in that vicinity had told me that a man named Otto Ping had information about him. Mr. Ping lived in a small house set far back from the road in the Brown County hills, seven miles southeast of Pike's Peak, Indiana. When my wife and I saw the Ping mailbox at the side of the road and a lane that led toward a house, we turned in and drove a short distance.

We were not prepared for the reception that we received. After stopping the car about fifty yards from the house, I turned off the ignition and waited in the car. Before long, an elderly woman appeared at the door. She pushed open the screen door and stepped out onto the porch, a rifle cradled in her arms. "What do you want?" she called. She was white-haired, dressed in a cotton print dress, and had an expression of matter-of-fact firmness on her face.

Quickly, I explained my mission, mentioning the name of the person who had sent us there, and hoped for the best. She put down the rifle and leaned it against the doorjamb. I interpreted this as a sign of nonhostility, if not of hospitality. I got out of the car and approached the house. When the woman saw that I was accompanied by my wife and child, she apparently decided that we were not a threat. A minute later, her husband, Otto Ping, appeared from inside the house and stood beside her. He seemed smaller and less challenging than his wife. After we extended our hands and I explained more about my mission, the Pings welcomed us to the house.

I still have a pleasant recollection of that initial visit. The warmth of the hospitality showed by Otto Ping and his wife, Clara, was unmistakable. Mrs. Ping quickly left us alone to talk with her husband and went into the kitchen. I had many questions to ask about Henry Cross, and Mr. Ping proved to be a valuable source of information.

I returned many times to talk to the Pings. On one of those visits, Mr. Ping told me that he had once been a photographer. He found a box of his photographs and glass negatives in the attic and brought them down for me to see. I was astonished at their sheer number, variety, and quality. It had taken him a long time to get around to telling me about his work. He probably thought that it was of no importance. I am sure that his wife convinced him that he should show his photographs to me. He was so modest and unassuming, he was probably overwhelmed that anyone would be interested in seeing them. But he quickly realized that my interest and admiration were genuine.

He lent me some photographs to show to my colleagues at Illinois State University. When our departmental photo historian saw them, she was astonished, urging me to borrow more of the collection and to catalog them.

I will never forget the last time I visited with Mr. Ping. It was in the late sixties or early seventies. My monograph on the early tombstone carver had been published several years before by the Indiana Historical Society. I returned once more because I had a nagging sense that Mr. Ping had many more photographs than the ones he had let me see. Finally, on that last visit, he and I climbed up into the hot, cramped attic of the house. There, under the eaves, we found a number of discolored and dusty boxes filled with the remainder of half a century's photographic work. I was horrified that it could have been stored in such a place. We carefully pulled the boxes out of their storage places and took them down to the living room. I hastily sorted through them. "What are you going to do with them?" I asked.

The Photographs of Otto Ping

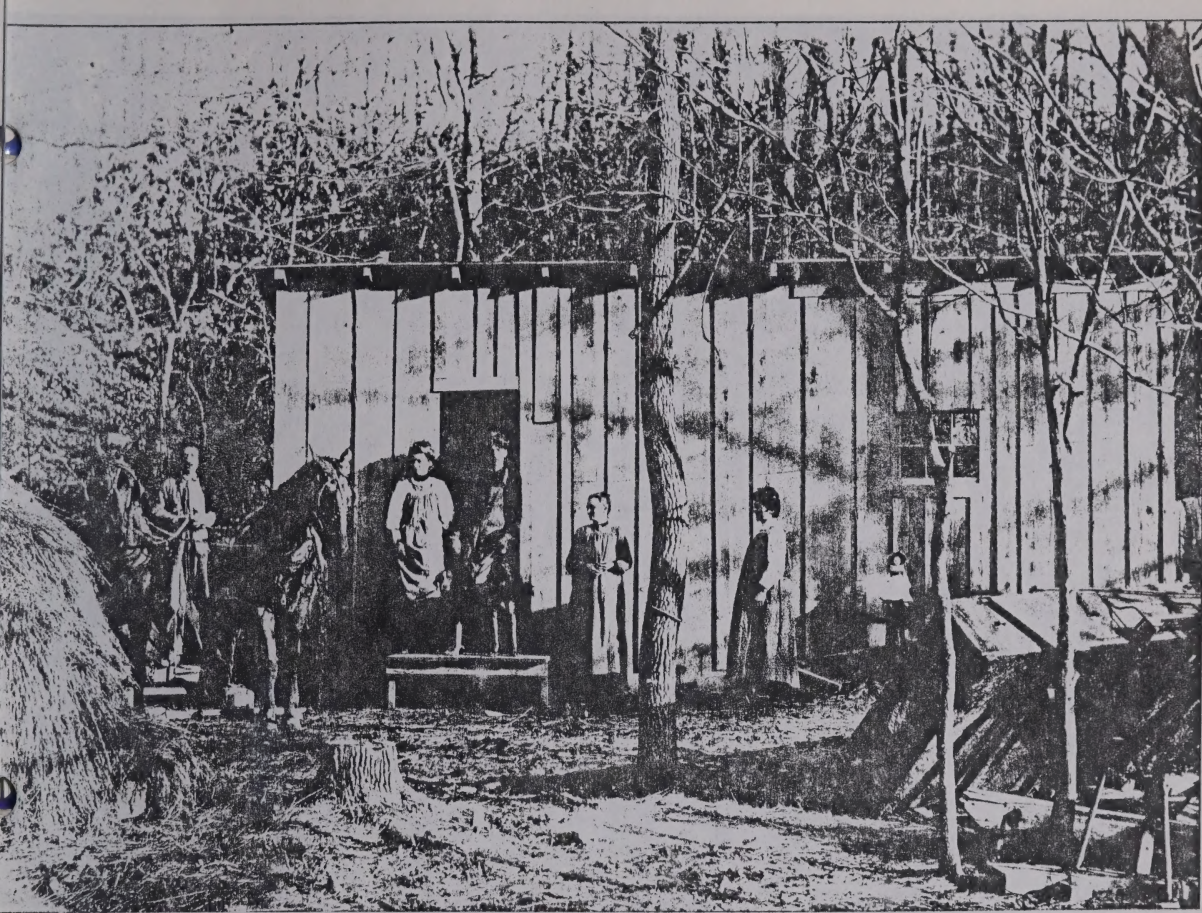

Past

It was a hot summer's day, made even hotter by that tin roof. But the discomfort and soiled clothing were a small price to pay for salvaging this cache of historic photographic images.

"You can have as many as you want," he answered.

It was a hot summer's day, made even hotter by that tin roof. But the discomfort and soiled clothing were a small price to pay for salvaging this cache of historic photographic images. As we sorted through them, he would often make short, comic remarks. I made what notes I could about his life and work. The photographs accompanying this article are, of course, only a sampling, but they will suggest the nature of Mr. Ping's work and illustrate the vivid way in which his images capture the feel of the period they represent.

Ewers Family at the Sawmill.

Otto Ping was born on 3 April 1883. He thought that he had first begun taking pictures about 1900. He continued to take pictures until about 1965, but I did not see any taken after 1930. The photographs that he took were all black and white. The earlier negatives were made using glass plates; later negatives are on flexible gelatin film. Taken as a group, they give a glimpse of life as it was lived in that particular part of Indiana during the early part of this century. Because this region was (and still is, to an extent) isolated, it retained many of the characteristics of nineteenth-century pioneer life.

Ping had several different business interests besides photography. At one time he operated a canning factory. He also traveled through the county giving demonstrations of canning equipment. In the photo collection there are several photographs of women standing around tables where the canning supplies were being used or displayed. He was also in the poultry business. When we first visited the Pings in 1962 at their small house near Pike's Peak, there was a large building nearby in which there were two thousand chickens, as I recall. For a while, he had dairy cows and delivered milk and cream to a local dairy. Since he was only seventeen when he bought his first camera and began taking pictures, he apparently had a sense of enterprise and business early in life.

The photographs suggest that the Ping family fortunes fluctuated a great deal. This is not surprising since the twenties and thirties were times of economic hardship in many parts of the country.

Ewers Family at the Sawmill

Many of the pictures were of family groups; others showed Sunday school classes, family reunions, picnics, and other gatherings. Mr. Ping, not surprisingly, made many pictures of his own family and of the Ewers family, for he married one of the Ewers girls, Clara. This photograph shows the Ewers family at their sawmill in the woods in 1906. The man holding back the team is Sam Ewers. It is evident from many of the photographs that most of the members of a family worked at whatever occupation supported them. Survival was a responsibility shared by all, including the young. Even though there is some informality to the photograph of the Ewers family at their sawmill, it seems to have been posed. The four people who are standing are all looking at Mr. Ewers as he holds the team of horses. It is easy to imagine Mr. Ping telling them: "Now, everybody look at your dad." The building itself looks new. It was probably made by the male members of the family. The steps up to the door are new and unbent. To the right, it is possible to see a doll perched on top of a stump. The reason why the wagon bed at the right is tilted is unclear. Perhaps it was undergoing repair.

Barker Family

There is a very touching story to be found in the following two photographs. According to the penciled notation on the back of this photograph, it shows members of the family of Mr. James Barker as they were posed at the edge of a woods on Beck's Grove Ridge. Mr. Barker sits erect, a stern expression on his face. He is holding his hat with his right hand. To his left is his wife, seemingly rather unhappy. With them are their four daughters and two sons. Only the young girl at the left rear seems in good spirits. In red ink, written on the back of this photograph, is this notation: "One little boy was dead before I got the picture finished." By "finished," the photographer evidently meant processed and printed.

Dead Boy in Bed

One of the largest groups of photographs taken by Otto Ping was pictures of corpses. I found photographs of tiny infants, dressed in elaborate dresses (such as those worn at baptismal ceremonies) and placed on tables or arranged on a bed as though asleep. Such post-mortem photographs were often the only likenesses that existed of the subjects. This image was given to me in the form of a glass negative; hence there were no notations on it. However, after I had it printed, it was apparent that the boy in this picture, seemingly asleep, is indeed dead. Mr. Ping confirmed this when I asked him about it. The little boy is unmistakably the same child depicted in the lower right of the Barker family photo. He appears to be about six years old. The photograph brings a number of questions to mind: Was the child ill when the first photograph was taken? Did his parents know that he was ill and near death? Or, was his death the result of an accident? We know that medicine and doctors were hard to find in those days (and in such places). Tombstones in Brown County cemeteries clearly show, by their dates, how many families were ravaged by deaths occurring within a few days of each other.

Winter Baptism

One of the most dramatic and haunting scenes is of a baptism in the dead of winter, deep in a woods. Baptism by immersion was an important rite in many of the fundamentalist religious sects in this part of the country. Baptism by means of sprinkling was regarded as invalid. Some sects argued that a baptism must be held in "living waters" rather than in a farm tank or other artificial location. The practice of baptizing people in rivers was a commonplace event in my own youth in Indiana. In the thirties in particular, we would often see large groups of people being baptized in White River near Columbus on Sunday summer afternoons, but I never witnessed one in winter.

There were about thirty-five witnesses to this baptism. Everyone except the minister and the young man about to be baptized are warmly dressed and huddled together. Some questions that need to be asked are these: Why didn't they wait until spring? How could they (the principals) avoid contracting pneumonia? What happened when the immersion was concluded? Perhaps a blazing fire was burning nearby. There is a gravity and solemnity to this photographic image that sets it quite apart from the other pictures in this group.

Family in Front of Log Cabin

This picture, made from a glass negative, features a family group. Mr. Ping gave no explanation or identification. The negative was one of many that we did not view together; therefore, the date and site are also unknown. The cabin appears to have been chinked between the logs with what is surely cement, a modern variation of the mud reinforced with sticks, leaves, and pebbles method used by early Indiana settlers. The classic Indiana cabin measured eighteen by twenty feet at its foundation. What is striking about this scene is the realization that Brown County families were still building pioneer type structures in the twentieth century. As for the people in the photograph, they seem to be a young family who are "dressed up" for the picture. Pride in possessions is often exhibited in the Ping photographs of local people.

Mr. Mabe's Birthday Party

One of the most delightful and revealing photographs is remarkable for its clarity and depth. It shows a huge birthday party in progress under shade trees in a field or yard at Stone Head village. Six long tables can be seen, each covered with a cloth and laden with food and drink. There are approximately eighty-five people in the picture, with the adults standing on the far side of the table and the children seated on the grass in the foreground. There are many old men wearing their black hats, pretty young women in starched blouses with their hair up, teenagers, and a patriarch or two with a snowy beard. The inscription on the back of the photograph, in Mr. Ping's handwriting, says, "Taken at Mr. Mabe's House at Stone Head. A birthday dinner." There is no date given.

Concerning the picture of Mr. Mabe's birthday dinner, he said, "I got my dinner. Lots of people bought pictures. There wasn't any TV." Since he took orders on such occasions, it was worth his while to attend as many picnics, reunions, and birthday celebrations as he could.

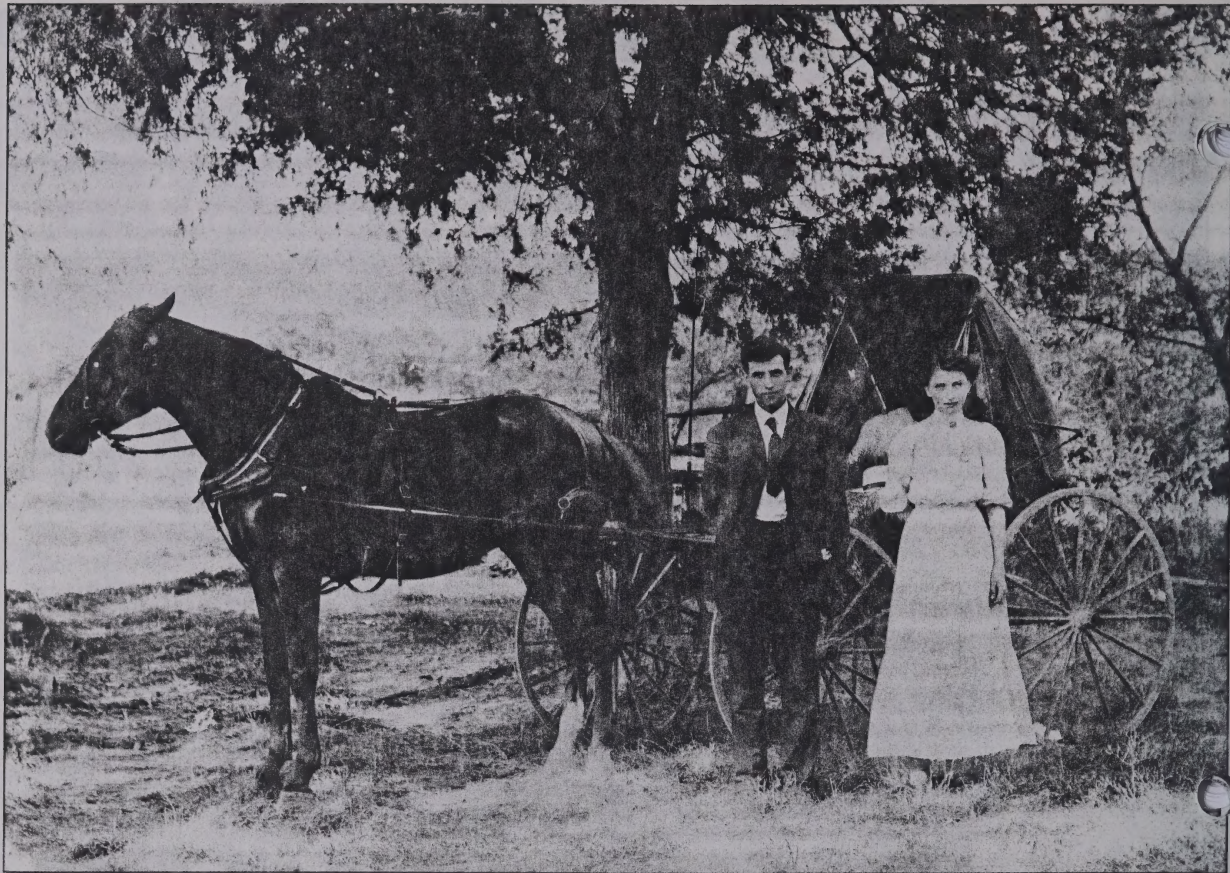

Lawrence and Mary Stuckey

The handsome pair in the buggy are Lawrence and Mary Stuckey. The buggy has been backed into the weeds, and the horse is not in the road but across it. The picture is remarkable for its contrasts and details, even to the buggy whip held in front of the driver to the right. The horse and buggy was, of course, to turn-of-the-century couples what the automobile is to later generations.

Otto Ping and Clara Ewers in 1906

This delightful picture shows a young, handsome, and dapper Otto Ping with his girl, Clara Ewers, in the year 1906. On the back of the picture, Mr. Ping had written, "Summer of 1906. Second date." Clara was only fourteen years old. Four years later, she would marry Otto Ping.

Otto Ping was born during the presidency of Chester Alan Arthur. He spent his entire ninety-two years of life in the isolation of a region of Indiana that retained much of the primitive character of the pioneer period, long after it had disappeared in other places. He was a farmer with little education, no knowledge of the arts, and no idea that he was either recording history or making works of art. He would have laughed if anyone had suggested that he was an artist, or that he was even creative.

Otto Ping and Clara Ewers in 1906.

What Otto Ping captured in his photographs was a disappearing epoch of American life, when the horse and the buggy had not yet lost out to the automobile and the jet airplane. His images are universal; all are dated, but many are timeless.

Otto Ping died on 28 October 1975 after having suffered two strokes. Clara Ewers Ping, his widow, spent her last years in a Lutheran retirement home in Seymour, Indiana. She died on 22 May 1985 at the age of ninety-five.

Edwin L. "Ed" Ediger, 91, went to be with his Lord and Savior, June 15, 2008.

He was born Sept. 11, 1916, near Buhler, Ks, the son of Henry B. and Mary Letkeman Ediger. He graduated in 1934 from Hutchinson High School and then graduated from Hutchinson Community College. He attended Emporia State University. A Hutchinson resident since 1929, he was employed by the Hutchinson Post Office for 34 years, retiring in 1973 as superintendent of mail.

After retirement, he worked for Warren Schmitt Century 21 Real Estate as a salesman for 10 years. He belonged to the First Baptist Church, American Legion Lysle Rishel Post No. 68, Hutchinson, National Association of Retired Federal Employees, and was a former member of the Hutchinson Kiwanis and the Hutchinson Optimist Clubs.

Ed particularly enjoyed being a starter for the 1934 Hutchinson High School Basketball team that took third in the state and broke Wyandotte High School's 46-game winning streak. He was also an avid Jayhawk fan. Dad was a very generous and honorable man. He was beloved by his family and his caregivers. He will be missed. He was a veteran serving in the US Navy during World War II.

On Sept. 17, 1938, he married Virginia K. Risley at the First Baptist Church parsonage, Hutchinson. She died May 5, 2000. Their surviving children are: Marcia Perry and husband Fred, Broken Arrow, Okla, and Jaye Ediger and wife Sandi, Prairie Village, Ks. Other survivors: a sister, Rubye Murphy, Hutchinson; five grandchildren, Diana Drake and husband Johnny, Broken Arrow, Okla, Matt Perry, London, United Kingdom, Joshua Ediger and wife Becky, Prairie Village, Kathryn Ediger, Maui, Hawaii, and Molly Ediger, Prairie Village; three great-grandchildren, Connor, Madeline and Ella Drake; and several nieces and nephews. He was preceded in death by a sister, Ella Carrier.

Funeral will be at 10 am Friday, June 20, 2008, at Elliott Mortuary Chapel, Hutchinson, with Pastor Stephen Taylor presiding. Private family interment will be in Penwell-Gabel Cemetery and Mausoleum. Memorials may be sent to Hospice of Reno County or the First Baptist Church, in care of the mortuary.

Last Rites Held For Arnolds Park Woman Friday

Funeral services for Mrs. Ida Connell, 80, were held at the Friends church in Arnolds Park Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Connell had been in ill health and confined to a wheel chair for a number of years.

The family moved to Arnolds Park in 1919 from Minnesota, having lived in Senborn prior to moving to that state. Mrs. Connell's health had not permitted her much activity since she came here, although she was interested in the work of the church consistently. Since Mr. Connell's death in March, 1938, she had been cared for by various members of the family and had lived with them in their homes for several years.

The following obituary was read at the service. The Rev. C. K. Hudson, pastor of the Calvary Methodist church, was in charge.

Ida May Truex, daughter of Mary and Richard Truex, was born Feb. 14, 1866, at Carlisle, Iowa, and passed away at her home in Arnolds Park on Sunday, Sept. 29, 1946, at the age of 80 years, seven months and 15 days. She has been an invalid for 17 years, spending most of that time in her wheel chair. For the past six weeks she was confined to her bed.

Most of her girlhood days were spent in Missouri. When a young woman, she moved to Thayer, Kans., where she was united in marriage to Frank Daniel Connell in 1885. They left immediately for Boyden, Iowa, where they homesteaded and lived for many years. They came to Arnolds Park in 1919, and it had been her home since.

She was the mother of 11 children, eight of whom are living. Her husband passed away in 1928. Those she leaves to mourn her passing are five sons and three daughters: William of Grange, Iowa; George of Fox Lake, Wis.; Frank of Tacoma, Wash.; Mrs. Dora Hile of Neosho, Mo.; Mrs. Nora Butler, Mrs. Nancy Mead, Lewis and Rauler, all of Arnolds Park. There are eight grandchildren and one sister, of Ponca City, Okla. The sister is Mrs. Harve O'Brien, who was unable to attend the funeral services.

She joined the Christian church in her youth and was an associate member of the Friends church. She was a devoted mother and spent her whole life building up a bond of love and harmony among all the members of her family. Though her living presence will be greatly missed, she leaves an inspiring memory for all who knew her.

The pallbearers were Otto Weiland, Alfred Weiland, Arthur Weiland and George Weiland, all of Emmettburg, brothers of Mrs. Frank Connell, and Edmar Podness and Bernard Elston, brothers of Mrs. Hauley Connell. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Connell had been here from Tacoma a few weeks, to visit his mother and expect to return there soon. Hauley Connell had just returned home from overseas service with the army.

Also read at the funeral was the following poem:

"She would not want the ones she loves

To grieve for her today;

We must not say that she is dead,

For she is just away—

Away upon a journey

To a land that's bright and fair;

And though we all will miss her

here

We know she's happy there—

And memories of her will bring

New comfort every day

As we recall—she is not dead

For she is just away!"

F. D. CONNELL OF ARNOLDS PARK
DIED AT SPENCER HOSPITAL

Frank Daniel Connell was born at Janesville, Wis., Aug. 27, 1856 and passed away in the Spencer hospital, March 18, 1928, aged 72 years, 6 months and 29 days.

He came with his parents to Mason City, Iowa, when 5 years of age, and when a young man took a homestead in Sioux county, near Tipton, and with the exception of four years in Minnesota, remained there all his life until he came to Arnolds Park in 1919.

He was married to Ida Truex, Feb. 2, 1885. To this union were born five girls and six boys. Minnie, John Elmer and Lillian preceded him in early childhood, while Wm. of George, Iowa, Geo. Lewis, Frank and Douglas, Mrs. Ray Father, Dora and Mrs. Howard Mead remain to mourn his loss together with the wife. One brother, Charlie of Alexandria, and four nephews and nieces.

Mr. Connell seemed to spend his whole life at peace with both men and his God, and in the nine years of his residence at Arnolds Park won many friends who today mourn his passing as the loss of a rarely honest and good natured friend and brother.

Birth: May 15, 1836
Coshocton County
Ohio, USA

Death: Jun. 28, 1927
Salt Lake City
Salt Lake County
Utah, USA

Delphos Republican
July 8, 1927

Sarah Ellen Haiselup was born at Dresden, Coshocton County, Ohio May 15, 1836 and died at Salt Lake City, Utah, June 28, 1927; aged 93 years, 1 month, 13 days.

At the age of 17 she moved with her parents to Brown County, Indiana. Here a year later she became acquainted with and married John Morris Truex with whom she lived more than fifty years until his death, a happy contented wife.

To this union were born ten children. With the exception of one child who died in infancy, all are living.

Shortly after her marriage, she and her young husband joined the Baptist Church at New Bellesville, Indiana. Her faith in her Lord and Savior was supreme, never faltering. She loved to read the Bible and to quote from its pages. She loved to sing the old songs of Zion that have cheered the hearts of thousands everywhere, and when her tongue had become too much paralyzed to pronounce words she still hummed the tunes.

One passage from the Bible she often quoted was "O, that men would praise the Lord for his goodness and for the wonderful works to the children of men."

She leaves four sons and five daughters, who will be very lonesome now that mother is gone. They are I.I. and T.N. Truex of Delphos, Kansas; Geo. Truex and Mrs. Arilla C. Duncan of Long Beach, Calif.; Mrs. Mary F. Clark of Ft. Shaw, Mont.; Mrs. Maynette Swayz of Salt Lake City, Utah; Mrs. Angela Holt of St. Anthony, Idaho, J.S. Truex of Rice Lake, Wis.; and Mrs. Cora Chance of Spokane, Wash.

Twilight and evening star,
And one clear call for me!
And may there be no mooring at the bar
When I put out to sea.

Memorial services were held for Mrs. Truex Saturday, July 2, at 2 p.m. at the Methodist Church in Delphos in charge of the Pastor Rev. L.E. Laybourn. Burial in Delphos Cemetery. A large company gathered to honor the memory of a good woman.

Leave flowers and a note

Blanch the broccoli separately and then plunge into ice cold water to stop the cooking and retain its color. Set aside.

While the peas are cooking, braise the onions in the vegetable stock with the garlic, turmeric, ginger, and black mustard seeds. When the onions have softened, add the tomatoes, cauliflower, and carrots. When the carrots are partially cooked, add the red pepper, cumin, coriander, black pepper, and cayenne, then continue simmering until the vegetables are cooked.

When the stew is ready, pour the processed peas into the onion-tomato mixture. Gradually add the vegetable stock until you reach a desired consistency. Add the broccoli. Salt to taste and garnish with cilantro.

HEARTY BEAN AND VEGETABLE STEW (OR SOUP)

YIELD: 12 CUPS (12 SERVINGS)

BY LENORE LITTLE

This stew/soup is very versatile and can use any fresh or leftover ingredients. It consists of three or four kinds of beans such as black, red kidney, pinto, baby lima, lentils, and green and/or yellow split peas. Cooked pasta and rice are added to the cooking liquid, which contains the diced vegetables and seasonings, after the beans are cooked. It freezes well.

Lenore prefers this dish as a stew served in the center of a bowl and rimmed with rice. As a soup, serve it with a hearty bread and salad for a winter's lunch or dinner.

1 pound assorted dry beans
2 cups vegetable juice
1/2 cup dry white wine
1/3 cup soy sauce
1/3 cup apple or pineapple juice
Vegetable stock or water
1/2 cup diced celery
1/2 cup diced carrots
1/2 cup diced parsnips
1/2 cup diced mushrooms
1 onion, diced
1 teaspoon dried basil
1 teaspoon dried parsley
1 teaspoon garlic powder or 3 cloves fresh garlic
1 bay leaf
1 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
1 cup cooked rice or pasta

Sort and rinse the beans, then soak overnight in water. Drain and place in a Crockpot. Add the vegetable juice, wine, soy sauce, and apple or pineapple juice. Cover with vegetable stock or water; the amount added depends on whether you prefer a soup (more liquid) or a stew (less). The juice adds just a tad of sweetness and the soy sauce adds depth and the tang of salt.

Cook for several hours on high. (You can also cook it on "low" overnight and finish it in the morning. The soup benefits from slower cooking.) Add the vegetables, herbs, and spices and cook for several more hours until the carrots and parsnips are tender. (In a slow Crockpot this could take almost half a day and is good for people who go off to work or want to take a long hike.) When tender, but not overcooked, add the rice or pasta and heat for 1 hour more.

his own in a field that is now a part of the Emmett Srna farm. Later, a two story rock house was built nearby, and it was there that Ike lived while teaching school at District 66 in "the hills." He homesteaded 160 acres near there and broke most of it out, driving a team of oxen, "Buck" and "Bright," after school. Mrs. Ferris, the oldest daughter, was born on this farm in 1877. She remembers that her father was a little disappointed for he had wanted a boy, and besides, "she was a year too late for the big centennial."

After moving about to two other farms in the valley for a few years, Ike and his family finally bought 40 acres of his father's homestead and built a home northwest of where the present Truex home now stands. It was there that Ike began his cultivation of berries, for which he later became famous. He lived on this place for about 15 years. later, he moved his family to the farm where Martin Anderson now resides, remaining there for about 10 years. When his father and mother came to town, about 1905, he bought the old homestead from the heirs and lived there for the remainder of his life.

It is this farm that Ike christened "Bluffdale." It is situated on a bluff, and besides "we had to sort of bluff our way along," Ike sometimes explained. It was at Bluffdale that he did his biggest berry business. He made a good living from a six-acre patch of berries and gained prominence as an authority on the cultivation of fruit of all kinds. When he first came to Ottawa County there was no "tame" fruit here of any kind. "You simply can't imagine how crazy people were for fruit," he often said. It was about 1878 that he marketed the first strawberries ever grown in this community. In an article published in the Kansas City Star in 1916. Mr. Truex was quoted: "The first lot of strawberries I took to market at Delphos consisted of only four boxes, but they were as much a curiosity as a two-headed calf. G.N. Billings, Delphos banker, came to Strickler's store, got the four boxes out of the showcase and took them around town to show to his friends."

"It was my ambition," Ike said in the article, "to be able to pick a thousand boxes of berries in a day. Well, the time came when we did pick that number every day for a week - and one day, 1,240 boxes. In a single season I realized $280 from half an acre. He recalled that his daughters, or "my boys," as he called them, were better pickers than any he could hire, and sometimes he had 25 or 30 pickers at one time.

Although his formal education was meager according to modern standards. Mr. Truex was an apt scholar and a typical self-educated man of the "old school." In his early years in the valley he taught school at several districts. His career began in a dugout on the old Hollis place west of the present Fred Rockhold farm site. Other teaching jobs were held at "Sand Hill," District 47, and "Old 66" in the hills. The possessor of a fine tenor voice, he had studied music in Indiana before coming to Kansas. In his new home he was in much demand as a singing master. He conducted singing schools at district 20 (Cedar Grove) and also in Delphos. He had a keen interest in music and many impromptu concerts were held at the Truex home, centering about Ike, his violin,

BAKED WINTER SQUASH WITH FIVE-GRAIN, BROWN, AND WILD RICE HOLIDAY STUFFING

If you plan to have the whole family over for a special Thanksgiving dinner, this recipe can easily be doubled and baked in an extra-large pumpkin. If there is extra stuffing mixture, it may be frozen after the initial cooking time (30 minutes) and then used as a stuffing at a later date.

SERVINGS: 6-8
 PREPARATION TIME: 20 MINUTES
 COOKING TIME: 1 1/2 HOURS

- 1 large winter squash or pumpkin (about 6-7 pounds)

Stuffing:

- 1 small yellow onion, diced
- 1/4 pound fresh mushrooms, cleaned and sliced
- 1 stalk celery, diced
- 1/2 cup low-sodium soy sauce
- 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
- 1 tablespoon parsley flakes
- 1 teaspoon ground sage

- 1 teaspoon ground thyme
- 1 1/2 teaspoons Italian seasoning blend, Spice Islands Bouquet Garni, or poultry seasoning
- 1/4 teaspoon dried rosemary
- 4 cups water
- 5 roasted chestnuts, shelled and chopped (optional)

Grain Mix (choose one):

- 1 1/2 cups 5-grain rice plus 1/2 cup brown rice plus 1 tablespoon wild rice or 1 1/2 cups brown rice plus 1/2 cup each wheat berries, rye berries, millet, barley, and wild rice

Place a small amount of water in a large saucepan. Add the onion, mushrooms, and celery and sauté for several minutes. Add the soy sauce and the remaining seasonings (these may easily be cut down or added to depending on your taste) and stir. Add the water and bring to a boil. Slowly add the chestnuts (if desired) and grains. Set the lid to let a small amount of steam escape and cook on low for 30 minutes. Meanwhile, cut off the top of the squash and save for a cover, then clean out the seeds and stringy portion. Stuff the squash with the grain mixture and replace the top. Place in a large roasting pan with 1 inch of water in the bottom and bake at 350° for 1 hour, or until the squash "meat" is tender.

VARIATION: This may also be prepared in several small winter squashes. Just cut the squash in half, remove the seeds and stringy portion, fill each half with stuffing, and bake in a covered baking dish as directed above.

and the girls who also liked to sing.

Mr. Truex was a second cousin of Mrs. Anna Morgan, pioneer housewife who was kidnapped by the Indians in the 60s, and about whom many articles have been written. After living with her captors for about a year she was released by a group of soldiers under the leadership of General Custer. It was at a bend of the river where Press Courtney now lives that Mrs. Morgan was kidnapped, Ike said.

After his wife's death in 1940, Mr. Truex chose to stay on the farm by himself despite all attempts to get him to move into town. In his solitude there, the plants and flowers which he raised were his chief interest and sole companions. As Mrs. Ferris remarked, "They were like people to him." He loved to sit on his porch and look out to the hills and "Mt. Boyer," and to watch his neighbors at work in the fields of the valley. He was an honest and industrious man of the true pioneer stock. His kindness will always remain in the hearts of his daughters and his many friends.

He is survived by four daughters: Mrs. I.W. Ferris and Mrs. G.F. Rollings of Delphos, Mrs. Tom Rockhold of Solomon, and Mrs. H. Bohannon of Benson, Arizona. A fifth daughter, Lulu, died at the age of 13 months.

He was the eldest of a large family and surviving are also two brothers and four sisters: George W. of Long Beach, Calif., who was visiting here at the time of Mr. Truex's death; Sherman of Escanedo, Calif., Mrs. Mary F. Clark, Fort Shaw, Montana; Mrs. Maggie Swayze of Salt Lake City, Utah, Mrs. Angella Holt of St. Anthony, Idaho, and Mrs. Al Chance of Los Angeles, Calif. A sister, Mrs. J.T. Duncan, and a brother, T.N. Truex, passed away several years ago.

Funeral services were held at the Presbyterian Church in Delphos on Thursday afternoon, July 16 at four o'clock, with the Rev. H.G. Feldmann officiating. Pallbearers were Paul Peterson, Miles Parks, Lee Duncan, Frank White, Dan Smith and Clyde Parks. The Hartley Funeral service was in charge, and burial was made in the local cemetery.

Margaret Ann Thirkil was born near South Bethany, Indiana on August 5th, 1855, and passed away at her home west of Delphos on February 7, 1940. Her parents were Joseph and Eliza Thirkil, the father being born on the Atlantic Ocean, coming to America from Ireland.

She also leaves ten grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Truex was a good wife and a loving and sacrificing mother. She had a great love in her heart for little children, and enjoyed having them about her. At an early age, she united with the Methodist Church at South Bethany, Indiana.

"Hallowed be the name of wife and mother."
 "Safe in the arms of Jesus,
 Safe on his gentle breast,
 There with his love o'ershadowed
 Sweetly her soul shall rest."

Funeral services were conducted from the Presbyterian Church Friday afternoon. Music was furnished by a mixed quartet, composed of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Wilkins, Miss Norline Manuel, and Mrs. S. Belveal, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Joseph Bruce.

Interment was in the Delphos Cemetery. Bearers were Paul Peterson, Miles Parks, Lee Duncan, Clyde Parks, Frank White and Robert Smith. Funeral director, Roy Hartley.

 Eulogy

I want to pay this last public tribute to my wife who recently passed on to the "Better Land". In 1875, as a young girl of twenty years, she left father and mother, brothers and sisters, and came a thousand miles to the frontier of Kansas to be my bride, I then being a boy of 21 years. For 64 years, she stood by my side and bravely helped me fight the battles of life.

She bore me five fine little girls, of whom I am very fond, and I pray that "He who tempers

Saucy Jerusalem Artichokes

Native to the Americas, the Jerusalem artichoke is a crisp, sweet root that resembles a somewhat watery potato. It's delicious raw, too, especially in salads.

- 1 pound Jerusalem artichokes, cut into 1/4-inch slices (about 3 1/2 cups)
- 1 cup skim milk
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1 tablespoon chopped fresh or 1 teaspoon freeze-dried chives
- 1 teaspoon chopped fresh or 1/2 teaspoon dried dill weed
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 3 ounces part-skim Swiss cheese, shredded (3/4 cup)

Place steamer basket in 1/2 inch water (water should not touch bottom of basket). Place artichokes in basket. Cover tightly and heat to boiling; reduce heat. Steam 10 to 12 minutes or until crisp-tender.

Mix remaining ingredients except cheese in 2-quart saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and boils. Boil and stir 1 minute; remove from heat. Stir in cheese until melted. Stir in artichokes.

4 servings (about 3/4 cup each)

MICROWAVE DIRECTIONS: Place artichokes and 1/4 cup water in 1 1/2-quart microwavable casserole. Cover tightly and microwave on high 6 to 7 minutes, stirring after 3 minutes, until crisp-tender; drain. Mix remaining ingredients except cheese in 4-cup microwavable measure. Microwave uncovered on high 3 to 4 minutes, stirring every minute, until thickened. Stir in cheese until melted. Stir into artichokes.

Spinach and Friends

Spinach gets together with tomatoes, garlic, and nubby pasta for a good time. The cook should have a good time, too, for the only step that takes a while is washing the spinach.

|                                                                                    |                 |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------|
| fresh spinach                                                                      | ½ pound         |
| olive oil                                                                          | 1½ tablespoons  |
| garlic, minced (about 1 teaspoon)                                                  | 1 clove         |
| fresh tomatoes, peeled and thickly sliced (these must be truly ripe and flavorful) | ½ pound         |
| freshly ground pepper (or to taste)                                                | ¼ teaspoon salt |
| dried pasta (short and nubby is best)                                              | ¼ teaspoon      |
| freshly grated Parmesan cheese for garnish (optional)                              | 4 ounces        |

1. Wash the spinach well, removing tough stems, but do not dry thoroughly. The water clinging to the leaves provides the liquid for cooking. If you can find it, buy flat, broad-leaved spinach, but the crinkly, cellophane-wrapped spinach will do.
2. Heat the oil in a pot large enough to hold all the spinach. Add the garlic and sauté until golden.
3. Put in the spinach, cover, and cook briefly until wilted. Stir once or twice during cooking.
4. Add the tomatoes and cook until softened. Stir in the salt and pepper and keep the sauce warm on low heat.
5. Cook the pasta. As soon as it is done, drain it and toss with the sauce.
6. Grate Parmesan cheese on top of each serving, if desired.

Birth: Sep. 24, 1855
Death: Oct. 10, 1937

Delphos Republican
 October 21, 1937

Thomas Newton Truex passed on, on October 10th, 1937. He was born on September the 24th, 1855, and lived to young manhood in Brown County, Ind., near the little village of New Belleville. In March, 1874, he moved with his parents and brothers and sisters to near Delphos, Kansas, and with the exception of two years spent in Arkansas, had lived in this part of Kansas since.

On the 8th of May, 1887, he married Miss Mary Alice Patterson, and to this union were born three children: Hurd, a boy who died in infancy, John R., of Wichita, Kansas, and Grace Doii Cree of Willow Springs, Mo.

Newt, as he was called by all his friends, came to Kansas in an early day, when it took a determined man to round out an honest living. He was a good natured man and was loved and respected by all who knew him, and, although he belonged to no church, he was truly a religious man. The Golden Rule was his guide. He was an honest man, and the poet Pope said an honest man was the noblest work of God.

He leaves three brothers and four sisters: I.I. Truex, Delphos, Kans., George W. Truex of Long Beach, Calif., John S. Truex of San Diego, Calif., Magnettie Swayze, of Salt Lake City, Utah, Mary F. Clark of Fort Shaw, Montana, Angela Holt of St. Anthony, Idaho, and Cora Chance, Los Angeles, Calif. Arrilla Duncan preceded him in death in Long Beach, Calif., about two years ago.

Blanch the broccoli and plunge into ice cold water to stop the cooking. Drain and set aside.

To prepare the teriyaki sauce, dilute the arrowroot in 2 tablespoons of cold water. Heat the remaining water, soy sauce, garlic, and ginger. Add the honey and stir to dissolve. Add the arrowroot mixture and the pepper. Continue stirring to thicken. There should be about  $\frac{2}{3}$  cup sauce.

Toss the broccoli with  $\frac{1}{3}$  cup of sauce and serve. Refrigerate the remaining sauce and use with other steamed or stir-fried vegetables.

whether you prefer a soup (more liquid) or a stew (less). The juice adds just a tad of sweetness and the soy sauce adds depth and the tang of salt. Cook for several hours on high. (You can also cook it on "low" overnight and finish it in the morning. The soup benefits from slower cooking.) Add the vegetables herbs, and spices and cook for several more hours until the carrots and parsnips are tender. (In a slow Crockpot this could take almost half a day and is good for people who go off to work or want to take a long hike.) When tender, but not overcooked, add the rice or pasta and heat for 1 hour more.

8 small or 4 large new potatoes, about 1 1/4 pounds, unpeeled, scrubbed and, if large, cut in half

2 heads garlic

2 teaspoons skin milk

1 teaspoon acceptable oil

1 teaspoon nonfat "butter" granules

2 teaspoons chopped fresh parsley

Freshly ground black pepper to taste

In a medium saucepan, place a steamer basket and add water to a depth of 1 to 2 inches. Be sure the water does not reach the bottom of the basket.

Cover saucepan and bring to a boil over medium-high heat. Place potatoes in steamer basket. Separate cloves of garlic, but do not peel the paper-thin skins surrounding each clove. Scatter cloves around potatoes. Cover and steam about 20 minutes, or until a fork can be easily inserted into potatoes.

Remove garlic from pan. Remove skins from garlic cloves by peeling them off with your hands or by pushing the garlic pulp out of the cloves.

Discard skins and mash garlic pulp with milk, oil and "butter" granules.

Remove potatoes from pan and cut them in half.

Serve with a dollop of garlic sauce, parsley and pepper.

Birth: Mar. 12, 1858
Death: Oct. 25, 1939

Delphos Republican
November 2, 1939

Mrs. Addie Nora Truex Steward passed away at her home in Delphos, Kan., Oct. 25, 1939, at the age of 81 years, 7 months and 13 days.

She was the oldest daughter of Thomas and Rachel Truex, and was born at New Belleville, Ind., Mar. 12, 1858. On Jan. 1, 1879, she was united in marriage to John H. Steward of New Belleville, Ind. She was the mother of five children, three daughters and two sons. One daughter died in infancy and another, Grace, at the age of 16.

The surviving children are Mrs. Ernest Haley, Delphos; Clyde, of the home at Delphos and Lon of Albuquerque, N.M., all of whom were present at the funeral. One grandson, John Haley, resides in Topeka. She also leaves two brothers, Charles Truex of Delphos and Lew Truex of Grand Island, Neb.

Mrs. Steward and her husband brought their family to Delphos, Kan., in 1898. The great sorrow of her life was the loss of both husband and daughter within a week, during 1906.

When a young girl, she united with the Baptist Church in Indiana, but when she came to Delphos, she united with the Methodist Church. As long as her health would permit, she was one of the faithful attendants upon all services of the church. While a great sufferer, she never complained or lost interest in Christ and her old friends. It was a pleasure to sit by her bedside, read from the Bible, lead in prayer and hear her give testimony of hope and assurance.

Well may her children think of this verse:

"'Tis the human touch in this world that counts,
The touch of your hand and mine.
Means far more to the fainting heart,
Than shelter and bread and wine.
For shelter is gone when the night is o'er,
And bread may last but a day,
But the touch of the hand and the sound of the voice
Sing on in the soul always."

Funeral services were conducted in the Methodist Church, Friday afternoon, by the pastor, the Rev. J.A. McClellan. Music was furnished by a mixed quartet composed of Mrs. Ethel Thurston, Mrs. Maude Warren, B.S. Chance and S. Belveal, who sang three selections, "Rock of Ages," "Lead Kindly Light," and "Good Night and Good Morning." Mrs.

Delphos Republican, May 6, 1910

Alexander Truex was born July 4, 1863 in Brown County, Indiana, and died April 30, 1910, in Delphos. He was united in marriage to Miss Emily Lackey August 21, 1883. To this union was born one son, who died in infancy. About twenty-three years ago he moved to Kansas, locating in Delphos, where he has since resided. Alex Truex was one of that great host of quiet, industrious, godfearing men who are the salt of the earth. We have heard the statement repeated many times, "He didn't have an enemy in the world." He had his opinions and convictions but was kindly and mindful of the rights and feelings of others. That he held a warm place in the hearts of the people of the community was clearly shown by the large number of friends who gathered at the Methodist Church Sunday to pay their last respects and who followed his mortal remains to their last resting place in the beautiful Delphos Cemetery. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. James M. Newton and the sermon was a beautiful, tender message of hope to those who mourned; a message which carried to the hearts of all his hearers a conviction that the spirit of man lives on forever. Mr. Truex was a member of the Knights of Pythias and Modern Woodmen and these orders attended the funeral in a body. The beautiful service of the Pythians was used at the graveside. The floral tributes were many and beautiful. Deceased is survived by the wife and by his mother, Mrs. Rachael Truex; by a sister, Mrs. Addie Stewart and two brothers, Charles A. and Lewie E. Truex, all of Delphos.

CHICKPEA SAUCE AND SPAGHETTI

The unusual flavor of this sauce comes from rosemary. It provides a welcome change from the "traditional" Italian seasonings used in pasta dishes. Since canned chickpeas and Parmesan contain ample salt, the sauce doesn't need any extra. Preparation tip: The sauce can be prepared while the pasta cooks, or it can be made ahead and reheated when you are ready to cook the pasta.

- 2 15-ounce cans chickpeas, divided (do not drain)
 2 tablespoons vegetable oil, preferably olive
 4 large cloves garlic, minced (4 teaspoons)
 1½ cups thinly sliced onions (1½ large)
 1 16-ounce can tomatoes, drained and cut up, with liquid reserved
 1 teaspoon rosemary, crushed
 ½ cup minced fresh parsley
 Freshly ground black pepper to taste
 1 pound spaghetti, cooked and drained
 ¼ cup grated Parmesan

1. In a blender or food processor or sieve, puree 1 can of chickpeas with its liquid.
 2. In a large saucepan, heat the oil and sauté the garlic and onions until the garlic begins to brown.
 3. Add the tomatoes and their liquid, rosemary, chickpea puree, and the remaining can of chickpeas with its liquid to the saucepan. Stirring it often, heat the mixture for about 15 minutes or until it has thickened. Add the parsley and pepper.
 4. Toss the hot cooked spaghetti with the sauce, and sprinkle it with Parmesan before serving.

FRENCH MARKET SOUP

Store the dry bean mix in airtight containers for future use. It makes a nice gift packaged in a 2-cup container with a copy of this recipe. You can omit some of the types of beans if you like.

SERVINGS: 6-8
PREPARATION TIME: 10 MINUTES
(PLUS OVERNIGHT SOAKING TIME)
COOKING TIME: 2-4 HOURS

Bean Mix (makes about 26 cups):
1 pound each navy beans, pinto beans, Great Northern beans, green split peas, yellow split peas, black-eyed peas, barley peas, lentils, baby limas, large limas, black beans, red beans,
soybeans

Soup:
2 cups bean mix
2 quarts water
1 16 ounce can low-sodium stewed tomatoes
1 large yellow onion, chopped
1 clove garlic, minced
1 4 ounce can chopped green
chilies
1/4 cup lemon juice

To make the bean mix, combine the beans thoroughly in a large container. To make the soup, wash the 2 cups beans, and soak overnight. Drain. Add the 2 quarts cover 2 inches above the beans, and soak overnight. Drain. Add the 2 quarts water and the remaining ingredients, breaking the tomatoes up with a fork. Bring to a boil, reduce the heat, cover, and simmer 2 to 4 hours, depending on how "mushy" you like your beans.

Birth: Nov. 10, 1864
Ohio, USA
Death: Aug. 23, 1931
Kansas, USA

Delphos Republican
August 28, 1931

The death of Mrs. Harriett Truex last Sunday at Asbury Hospital in Salina brings much sorrow to the Delphos community, for she was one of the best loved women of the town.

For years, she had operated a boarding house, and the high quality of her meals and her cheerful disposition had made her many friends. She seldom got far away from home of late years, owing to her infirmities, but she always took a great deal of interest in everything.

Mrs. Truex will be much missed by a host of friends in Delphos.

OBITUARY

Harriett Emily Lackey, daughter of Oscar and Sarah Lackey, was born near Marietta, Ohio, Nov. 10, 1864 and was deceased August 23, 1931, her years of probation being 66 years, 9 months and 13 days.

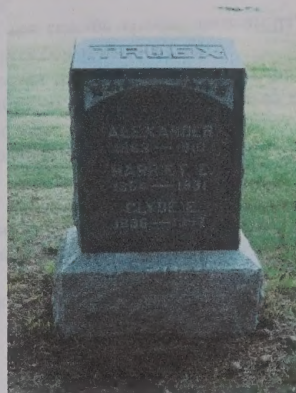

In early life she moved with her parents to Indiana, and then settled near New Belleville.

August 4, 1883 she was espoused to Alexander Truex, and two years later they came to Kansas, locating at Delphos. For some years he worked for the Union Pacific Railroad Co., and later worked at the barber trade. One son, Clyde, was born to Mr. And Mrs. Truex, living about fifteen months. The husband was deceased in July 1910.

At about fourteen years of age, Harriett was converted, and united with the Methodist Church at New Belleville, Indiana. She lived in this church relationship fifty-four years.

She was a faithful soldier of the cross as was her father and mother before her. She was active in her church duties, being an active member of the local W.H.M.S. She provided for herself until the last day of her life, and though she endured real suffering at times, she toiled on without a murmur. Surely she fought a noble battle, and her crown is justly hers.

She leaves mourning her departure two sisters, Mrs. Sylvia R. Betts of Delphos, Kansas, and Mrs. Ola Vawter of Nashville, Ind.; three brothers, C.B. And O.J. Lackey of Columbus, Ind., and S.C. Lackey of Agenda, Kansas; four brothers-in-law, four sisters-in-

VEGETABLE LASAGNE

8 servings

To my family and guests, this dish ranks higher on the scale of culinary treasures than regular lasagne. And to think it's good for you—low in fat and high in fiber, vitamins, and minerals. I thank Susan Oakley for introducing me to the particular combination of ingredients. Preparation tip: Lasagne, like eggplant Parmesan, is a multistep dish to prepare, which discourages some cooks. But it is excellent company or party food because it can be made weeks ahead and frozen unbaked. To me, it is especially wonderful after a day of outdoor winter activity; if defrosted, it bakes in less than half an hour while you're putting things away and preparing a salad. If you're making it for your family, I'd recommend preparing two pans: one to eat right away and another to freeze for later use.

- 1½ cups chopped onion (1½ large)
- 2 large cloves garlic, finely minced (2 teaspoons)
- 6 ounces mushrooms, coarsely chopped
- 3 tablespoons sherry
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 2 large stalks broccoli (stems and flowerets), chopped (about 4 cups)
- ½ pound spinach, washed well and chopped (about 2 cups, packed)
- ½ teaspoon AHA herb mix (see p. 182) or low-salt alternative
- 16 ounces (2 cups) low-fat cottage cheese
- 4 ounces part-skim mozzarella, shredded (about 1 cup)
- 3 tablespoons grated Parmesan
- ¼ cup chopped fresh parsley or 1 tablespoon dried parsley flakes
- 2 eggs
- ¼ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
- ¼ teaspoon salt, if desired
- 3 cups tomato sauce (homemade or canned)
- 8 ounces lasagne noodles, cooked al dente and spread on foil or wax paper

1. In a large skillet, sauté the onion, garlic, and mushrooms in sherry and butter until the vegetables are soft.
2. Add the chopped broccoli, spinach, and herb mix. Stir to combine the ingredients, reduce the heat, cover the skillet, and simmer the mixture for about 5 minutes or until the broccoli is tender-crisp.
3. In a medium bowl, combine the cottage cheese, mozzarella, Parmesan, parsley, eggs, pepper, and salt.
4. In a baking pan approximately 13 × 9 × 2 inches, spread ½ cup of tomato law, ten nephews, five nieces and a host of dear and faithful friends.

Let me go, my soul is weary
Of the chains which bind me here.
Let my spirit bend its pinions
To a better, holier sphere.
Earth, it's true, hath friends that bless me
With their fond and faithful love,
But the hand of angels beckon
Onward to the gates above.

Funeral services were held at the Methodist Church Wednesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Paul J. Vielguth. Burial was made in the Delphos Cemetery.

SPAGHETTI PANCAKE

Although it's hard in our house to make enough spaghetti to have leftovers for the next day, every now and then one of my sons will exercise restraint because he wants to have a spaghetti pancake for breakfast. This is easiest to prepare in a nonstick skillet. If you don't have one, grease a regular skillet with a generous coating of vegetable-oil spray. You can add herbs or minced hot peppers to taste.

- 4 cups cooked spaghetti (about ½ pound dry)
- 1 egg white plus 1 whole egg, lightly beaten
- 2 tablespoons milk
- ¼ to ½ cup grated Parmesan
- ¼ teaspoon dried oregano (optional)
- Salt, if desired, to taste
- Freshly ground black pepper to taste
- Dash cayenne
- 2 teaspoons butter or margarine

1. In a medium bowl, combine the spaghetti, beaten egg white and egg, milk, cheese, oregano, salt, black pepper, and cayenne.
2. In a 10-inch skillet (preferably nonstick), heat the butter or margarine. Add the spaghetti mixture, spreading it evenly to form a tight cake. Cook the pancake over medium-low heat until its bottom is golden brown, about 10 minutes.
3. Using the edge of the spatula, divide the pancake into 4 sectors, and turn it one section at a time. (If you feel insecure about flipping the pancake, you could also place the entire pan under the broiler—providing its handle is oven-proof—to bake the top, although this method tends to dry it too much.) Brown the pancake on the other side, 3 to 5 minutes.

Glen Truex Drowned Last Thursday Eve.
 Body recovered Monday near Geisen Bridge

A sad affair which struck Delphos like a thunderbolt, occurred last Thursday evening when Glen Truex, thirteen year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Truex, was drowned in the Solomon River just west of the Geo. Kruse house south of the mill.

Glen, with David Partridge, Ray Bumgardner and Elmo Yenser had attended Chautauqua in the afternoon and evidently planned their trip to the river there at the tent, and went directly to the river afterward. The river was about 6 feet above normal and besides there was quite a hole where the boys went in so that the water was twelve to fifteen feet deep. None of the boys were swimmers except David Partridge, who went to the aid of Glenn when the latter got into deep water and couldn't get out. Glen, however, grabbed David about the neck and David had to break loose to save his own life and was pulled out by the other boys reaching a pole to him. David then dressed and rode his bicycle to the office of the Delphos Milling Co. and gave the alarm which was brought to town just about 5:15. A crowd immediately assembled at the river and a number of men commenced diving, but could do very little on account of the swift current. Boats were brought, but not much could be done from them. Early Friday morning a number of boats were put to work and a systematic dragging and piking of the river was done Friday and Saturday, and again on Sunday. Ropes were stretched across the water to aid the boatmen. A hayrake was also used Sunday, but nothing was accomplished apparently.

Sunday being the third day, about two hundred men were placed at various places on the river to watch for the body if it should rise and start to float downstream. A fence had been placed across the river, at Horseshoe Bend Saturday and this was watched carefully, also. Nothing occurred during the day, but watch was placed for the night along the river and at the old Collins bridge. Robt. Areheart and Happy Parrish were at the bridge and between two and three o'clock Monday morning saw the body floating rapidly down the river. They came to town and got help and the motorboat, which had been brought from Salina during the day Sunday. It was launched at the bridge and started down the river but they did not catch up with the body for several miles and the body was landed near the Geisen bridge near Minneapolis, which is 35 or 40 miles below the point where Glen went down. Gerald Smith and Pearl Davis were in the motorboat with a young man who came with the boat.

The body was taken to Smith Funeral Parlors at Minneapolis where it was prepared for burial. It was in such a poor condition that it was immediately packed in the casket and sealed. Funeral services were held Tuesday in the Methodist Church. Rev. L.E. Laybourn conducted the service.

The Rev. G.S. Smith, grandfather to Glen, read the scripture and the obituary and assisted the Rev. Laybourn in the conduction of the service. Kenneth Warren, Roger Billings, Donald Fairfield, Howard Cain, Elmo Yenser and Ray Bumgardner acted as pall bearers. Honorary pall bearers were Roy Cain, David Partridge, Dennis Sullivan, Francis Bulleigh, Dale Sullivan, and Richard King.

Flower girls were Norlene Manuel, Agnes Olds, Frances Payne, Phyllis Barker, Marjory Benson of Glasco, Avis Smith of Salina, Nola McCullough of Glasco.

A full obituary follows elsewhere in this paper. Glen was well liked about town and for some time had been shining shoes at the Hogg Barber Shop. He is their only son and one older sister, Mrs. Ned Porter, lives at Glasco.

Glen would have been 13 years old September 22 and would have been in the 8th grad at school this next year. He was an industrious boy and liked by all who knew him and all Delphos mourns his loss and sympathize most deeply with his parents.

This makes the fourth victim to have been claimed by the Solomon River in the Delphos community this year. Sammy Antene was the first, Vernon Driscoll and David Teasley drowning together about a month ago and now Glen has been taken.

Obituary
Charles Glen Truex, only son of Charles and Edna Truex, was born September 22, 1914, and passed away August 11, 1927, at the tender age of 12 years, 10 months and 19 days.

Glen was a very industrious boy, making good grades in his school work and, had he lived, would have taken up the 8th grade work with 18 boys and girls of his age with whom he had come up thru the different grades. He was a regular attendant at Sunday School and here he showed the same interest. Not only was he interested in these lines but for a child of his age he was interested in the current events of the community and country.

When an old person passes on we write the word 'Finis' and close the book. But not so when a young person passes away, we wonder what the unwritten pages would have been. He leaves his father and mother, one sister, Mrs. Ned Porter, a sweet little niece in whom he was deeply interested, a number of uncles, aunts and cousins, his classmates both in the school and Sunday School.

"We say farewell but will meet him in the

Birth: Jul. 24, 1844
 Hessen, Germany
Death: Oct. 13, 1911
 Nappanee
 Elkhart County
 Indiana, USA

George S Walters has been successful from a pecuniary standpoint in the conduct of his affairs, and is a liberal, generous and high-minded gentleman, whose correct mode of living has gathered about him a large circle of friends and well-wishers.

He was born at Hesse Cassel, Germany, April 14, 1844, the fourth child born to Justin and Elizabeth Walters, who brought him to America when he was about three years old, the voyage thither occupying about six weeks. They landed at Baltimore, but at once moved to Ohio, and in 1853 came to Indiana, settling first in Harrison township and six years later in Union township. In 1859 they took up their residence on the farm on which the mother is still living with her daughter Lydia. At that time it was a typical pioneer farm of Indiana, for it was heavily wooded, and little or no improvements had been made. They at once set to work to clear it, and as their means at that time amounted to the sum of $80 they found it necessary to work early and late in order to keep the wolf from the door and to provide themselves with the common necessities of life.

The father was a weaver by trade, and for a number of years wove all the cloth which covered his family. Their labors were in time rewarded and they eventually became possessed of a good property. The father paid the last debt of nature about 1869, his death occurring in the month of March, at which time, and for many years prior, he was a worthy member of the Mennonite Church.

George S Walters attended the schools of Elkhart county, mostly in Union township, and in the neighborhood where he now lives the principal part of his life has been spent. At the age of twenty-two years he took unto himself a wife in the person of Miss Susan Ernest, daughter of George W. and Rachel (Nagle) Ernest, both of whom were born in Pennsylvania, the father being now a resident of Nappanee. Mrs Walters was the oldest of their three children, and was born in Cumberland county, Penn, on August 27, 1843. She was five or six years of age upon coming to this county, and upon her father's farm in Union township she attained womanhood, obtaining a good education in the district schools near her home.

She married Mr. Walters at the age of twenty-one years, and with him settled on the old Walters homestead, where they resided two years, then rented a farm near Uly school-house, and after making one more change to the Fritz farm, on which he remained for two years, bought the place on which he now resides, which consisted of eighty acres, and was only improved by a log house, stable, and twenty-five acres of cleared land. He now has a farm that is as well improved as any in the county, and has so conducted his business that he has been able to improve it with a handsome house and also in numerous other ways. He has a fine barn capable of holding a large amount of hay and stock, and is engaged in general farming and stockraising and in the winter devotes his attention to dealing in lumber. He has prospered in all his business undertakings, and this is, no doubt, owing to the fact that every detail of his work has been carefully looked after, and that he is energetic and honest. Like all public-spirited and intelligent gentlemen he is quite popular in the Republican party.

His family consists of nine children: Frank, born August 30, 1866, is married to Sarah J Hartman, daughter of Tobias Hartman, of Nappanee, and they have a little son, Ray; Frank Walters lives in Nappanee and is a clerk in Hartman's store; the next child of Mr Walters is Alice E who was born February 1, 1869, has taught eight terms of school in Elkhart county, and is now taking a teacher's course at Valparaiso, Ind; Ida was born May 22, 1870, is quite a skilled musician, and is at home with her parents; Jesse, who was born December 29, 1872, assists his father on the farm, and has also manifested a taste for music; Milo, born January 19, 1874; Ira, born April 7, 1878; Oscar, born June 29, 1881; Bertie, born August 26; --, and Vernon, born October 3, 1887. Two children died in infancy. Mr Walters has endeavored to give his children good advantages, and as a result he has a bright and intelligent family, who give every promise of becoming an honor to their parents.

During the Civil war between the North and South Mr Walters was a soldier in the Union army, serving in Company I, Indiana Volunteers, but was taken sick with measles and returned home. Mrs Walters' parents were native Germans, and her mother's maiden name was Dedrick. They were the parents of three daughters.

Death: Nov. 10, 1977

 Elkhart County
 Indiana, USA

Frederick I. Ernest, 83, of 137 S. Riverside Dr., Elkhart manufacturer and former president of Speedgrip Chuck, Ind., died Thursday evening in General Hospital. He had been taken to the hospital in mid-afternoon after becoming ill at his office.

Friends may call after 7 this evening at the Hartzler-Gutermuth Funeral Home. Services will be at Central Christian Church at 11 a.m. Saturday, with the Rev. Kent Borgaard officiating. The body will be taken to the church at 9 a.m. Burial will be in Rice Cemetery. Memorial contributions may be made to Lifeline.

Mr. Ernest was born Dec. 9, 1893, in Elkhart County. He worked for the former Foster Machine Co. 25 years. For three years, during World War II, he was transferred to the former C. G. Conn plant to act as plant superintendent.

At the end of the war he returned to Foster. While there he designed and patented a holding device which he named speedgrip chuck. Foster manufactured and used this device until the firm went out of business. At this time, two organizations were formed - Ernest, Holderman and Collett, Inc., to buy, rebuild and sell various types of machinery, and Speedgrip Chuck, Inc., which produced the product by that name.

The two organizations occupied the former Foster foundry until Speedgrip built a structure in Industrial Park in 1965. When Mr. Ernest retired as president, his son, Richard, succeeded him and Mr. Ernest continued as a consultant.

Surviving Mr. Ernest is his wife, Helen Ferguson Best, whom he married June 10, 1950. Her first wife was the late Hazel Saunter Ernest, whom he married June 7, 1915. Also surviving are two sons, Richard, and Robert, both of Elkhart, four grandchildren, three great-grandchildren, a stepdaughter, Nancy Best Taylor of Penngrove, Calif., and three step-grandchildren.

Mr. Ernest was a member of Central Christian Church, where he served in many capacities, including church school superintendent, elder, and chairman of the general board. Mr. Ernest was also past president of the Elkhart Industrial Club.

Fred lived most of his life in the Elkhart area. He was an active member of the Central Christian Church serving as an elder, deacon,

GREEN PEPPER AND TOMATO STEW

HUNGARY

This spicy Hungarian stew, called lesco, is rather similar to the Italian peperonata, except that it's made with green peppers and a generous seasoning of paprika. You can serve it Hungarian-style with a fried egg on top, but I think it's nicer with fluffy brown rice or warm crusty bread and soft cheese. Serves 4.

1 pound (450 g) green peppers
2 medium-size onions
3 tablespoons vegetable oil
2 cloves garlic, crushed
2 tablespoons paprika
1 can (16 ounces/480 g) tomatoes
Salt and pepper

Wash and slice the peppers into even-size pieces, discarding seeds and stalk. Peel and chop the onions, and fry them in the oil in a large saucepan for about 5 minutes, or until golden brown. Remove from the heat and stir in the garlic, paprika, peppers, tomatoes, and a seasoning of salt and pepper. Cover and cook gently for about 20 minutes until all the vegetables are tender. Check seasoning and serve.

KIDNEY BEANS WITH TOMATOES, ONIONS, AND CUMIN

PORTUGAL

This Portuguese mixture of glossy red kidney beans, tomatoes, onions, and cumin is spicy and delicious. Serves 4.

8 ounces (240 g) dried red kidney beans
6 tablespoons olive oil
2 teaspoons cumin seed
1 large onion
1 can (8 ounces/240 g) tomatoes
Sea salt

Put the lentils and beans into a bowl and cover generously with cold water; leave them to soak for several hours or overnight, then drain and rinse them.

½ cup (125 ml) lentils
½ cup (125 ml) navy beans
2 large onions
1½ pounds (675 g) red peppers—
about 4 large ones
3 tablespoons butter
4 cups (1 liter) unsalted stock or water
4 tablespoons tomato paste
Sea salt
Sugar

You can make this stew with all lentils or all beans but I think the mixture I've suggested gives you the best of both: the lentils thicken the sauce and give it body while the beans supply extra interest and texture. One of the nicest things about this dish is its color—it comes out a heart-warming vivid red and is really welcoming on a chilly day. Serve it with a dollop of sour cream, some crunchily baked potatoes, and a green side salad; or try creamy mashed potatoes and a cooked green vegetable. Serves 4.

BULGARIA

LENTIL AND RED PEPPER STEW

While the beans are cooking, peel and chop the onion and sauté it lightly in the remaining 2 tablespoons of oil. Cook the onion for about 10 minutes, until it is soft but not brown. Add the cumin seeds and stir them with the onion for a minute or two before putting in the tomatoes and some salt and pepper. Let the mixture simmer for about 10 minutes to give all the flavors a chance to blend, and then take it off the heat and mix gently with the beans. Reheat as necessary and serve with fluffy brown rice, or warm whole-wheat bread and a crisp green salad.

Soak the kidney beans for 2–3 hours in plenty of cold water; then drain and rinse them. Put the beans into a saucepan with enough cold water to come about 1 inch (2.5 cm) above them, and add 4 tablespoons of the olive oil. Simmer the beans gently, covered, until they're very tender and most of the water has gone. Season them to taste with salt and pepper.

You will never be forgotten. You were an amazing man. My father loved you very much. Unfortunately, I never met you. It is wonderful to know how much you loved Nellie.
